The Junior-Senior Banquet: A Night of Fun, Inspiration and Adventure By Mitchella Rosidor

The Junior-Senior Banquet was a night to remember. It was a special event that resembled a prom but with a few differences. The students were dressed to impress, the music was subtle in the background, and the atmosphere was amazing. It was a night of celebration, where the juniors and seniors could come together and enjoy each other's company. The highlight of the night was the dinner, which was an absolute delight. We had delicious kebabs, which were cooked to perfection.

then read the Junior Prophecy, which was a touching moment for everyone. It was a reminder that this was a special night and that the seniors were about to embark on a new journey in their lives. The most inspiring part of the night was when Mr. Bernie gave an interactive message about time. He talked about how time is precious and how we should spend it wisely. He reminded us that we all have equal opportunity in life, and that we should seize each moment. Mr. Bernie used Psalm 90:12 to illustrate his point. "Teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom." This message was a reminder that we should make the most of the time we have and live life to the fullest. After juicy, tender, and full of flavor. The aroma of the food filled the room, and everyone was excited to dig in. After the main course, we had trifle for dessert, which was the perfect ending to a perfect meal. After eating, the program continued with Cayden reading the Senior Will. Meredith the banquet, the adventure continued with an escape room-themed party. Mindy Olfert, Justyn, and Kimberly Klatt led the pirate-themed escape room party, which was a hit among the students. The students were divided into groups and had to solve clues to escape the room. It was a fun and exciting way to end the night, and everyone had a blast. In conclusion, the Junior-Senior Banquet was a night of fun, inspiration, and adventure. It was a celebration of the juniors and seniors and a reminder to make the most of our time. The delicious food, fun activities, and inspiring messages made the night unforgettable. Thank you to everyone who contributed towards this evening.

Gabe's Senior Chapel By Grace Brown

On Thursday April 4th, Gabe Sapp gave us his senior chapel. His topic was on tribulations and how God uses them to teach us something. His chapel opened with a boom-literally. The second after Gabe finished his prayer at the beginning, Mr. Marasco popped a balloon. This was Gabe's introduction about how tribulations can often come out of nowhere and when we are least expecting it, just like the loud balloon pop. Tribulations are problems and dilemmas that people face in life. Most often, our first reactions are that tribulations are bad, but often this is the perfect opportunity for God to work in our lives. James 1:2-3 explains how tribulations bring perseverance. Similar to James, Romans 5:3 talks about how tribulations can be good for us. When people face tribulation, they often turn to God for guidance, strength, and peace of mind. If we are submitted to God, the tribulations we face will go a lot smoother. Knowing that we have God's love on our side when we face hardships and trials will give us hope and help us to remember that our suffering is temporary. After Gabe spoke on this, he told us parts of his story from birth to his current age and how God has taught him through his tribulations and what he has learned from them. We all learned a lot from Gabe's chapel and it gave us a lot to think of.

Letting Go of What You Can't Forget By Cayden Klatt

On Thursday, April 4th, Sarah Dahl presented her senior chapel to the school along with Gabe Sapp. Sarah talked about letting go of what you can't forget. She started off by talking about how everyone has held a grudge at some point in life. She talked about how her dad was unable to be the father figure she and her sisters needed and that she held a grudge against him for most of her life. Her freshman year he was diagnosed with stage three kidney failure, which took a large toll on him. Start of senior year Sarah's family was forced to rush him to the hospital. He had one week of hospice before he went on to be with the LORD. Sarah talked about how in these last weeks of her father's life, she learned to forgive and saw his love in the last two weeks. She came up with four key points on forgiving and letting go. The first step was analyzing. You should analyze why you have the grudge and if it is worth holding it. She quoted Second Timothy two seven here. Step two is prayer. She said that prayer is one of the most powerful things you can do, and it can help in ways you never imagined. Step three is to take action. You can learn to serve the person, love the person, and then trust God with the rest. Finally, step four was to let go. Once you take action, you realize the grudge is not worth it and begin to let go. Sarah had a beautiful message of finding forgiveness in difficult times and it was an example of how God is there even in the storms of life.

Aubri's Senior Chapel - God is Always There By Courtney Teichroew

On Thursday, April 11 Aubri gave her senior chapel on knowing that God is always there for you and that you are never alone. To start her chapel, she gave a short testimony and how she used to feel alone and that no one would understand. After school, she was exhausted and she did not want to bother and look like she wanted attention. During all of this she never really looked to God which made it harder for her but after a couple of months, it started to get better for her. But it came back this time she gave it to God doing what she should have done in the beginning. She started reading the Bible more and found comfort in knowing that God never leaves your side. She also talked about how to get help with our problems. She used Psalms 145:18-19 to tell us that if we call out to him, He will answer us in our time of need, and Isaiah 41:10 to tell us that needing help does not make us weak it will make us stronger in the end. In Galatians 6:2 she used this verse to tell us that we will have burdens and that if we share them, they will be easier for us. To end her chapel, she told us that there will always be problems and struggles in life. But even when there is no clear path we are never without support, and reminded us to look to God first and then ask for help from the people around us. Because you are never alone and never will be God will always be by your side.

Identity: A Senior Chapel by Cassidy Grider By Sarah Dahl

On April 11th, 2024, Cassidy Grider did her senior chapel on Identity. She started with prayer that God would guide her and Aubri as well. To begin her speech, she stated the word, "identity" and that everyone has an identity. She continued saying, "Identity is defined as the fact of being who a person is." Miss Grider goes on to talk about how the world today is trying to change the way we think about identity and that we can be whoever we want ourselves to be. She mentions how in today's public schools, children as young as kindergarten age are being taught about the transgender movement and that they can change their gender completely. She states that "this can be very confusing to anyone and make us question who we really are." She recognizes the issue of identity even with the Lustre community by saying that it can be very easy to question where our worth comes from. How does this relate to the Lustre community? Well, she goes on to say that many who are in basketball tend to put their all into the sport and very easily make it their identity. She says, "I have enjoyed watching you all play, but it can be very easy to think that basketball is what makes you, you." She goes on to recognize those who are not into sports also put their identity into something by recognizing those who put their identity into academics. She says that these people tend to think about how smart they are and whether they get good grades or not. Cassidy mentions not only other people's struggles but her own as well. She told the audience how she struggles with what other people say and think about her. She says she struggles with the fact that not everyone is going to like her and it would make her feel bad about herself. She went on to read a paper that Mrs. Reddig had given us last year during her chapel. She read this and then had people read a few bible verses. Cassidy went on to talk about a few other things and then closed with people pondering what she had to say that day.

Alcohol And Drug Abuse By Alexa Reddig

Everyone has experienced peer pressure at some time in their life. Teens, in particular, can feel this peer pressure the strongest. This can lead to sorts of things that have lasting and damaging effects, such as drug or alcohol abuse. In a culture where the concept of drug and alcohol use is becoming increasingly common and even popular, it greatly increases the probability of such use and abuse by teens. This is a scary thing to face in our world today, and may even be a surprising thing for some.

One in eight teens has been reported abusing an illicit drug in the last year. 50% of teens report misusing drugs at some time in their lives. And as many as 62% of teens have abused alcohol at some point by their senior year. So as much as some may like to think that drugs and alcohol do not affect our young people, the statistics obviously show otherwise. So how can we help those, both teens as well as adults, with drug and alcohol abuse? First of all, one can research the signs and symptoms of certain substances. Secondly, pay attention. Be aware and watchful of

HOW A DRUG OR ALCOHOL ADDICTION CAN AFFECT YOUR PHYSICAL HEALTH

Substance abuse damages your organs and disrupts your bodily systems. Here are just a few of the ways that addiction can affect your physical health.

- 1) Weakens your immune system
- 2) Affects your heart rate and blood pressure
- 3) Causes severe harm to your digestive system
- 4) Damages your lung tissues and functionality
- 5) Impacts your liver, reproductive system, kidneys, and more.

their behavior. Such observations will help you decide on what the next step should be, contacting help or seeking guidance for that person. Discussing your observations with trusted friends and family can also help solidify or correct your viewpoint of the situation.

It is also important to make sure that close friends and family are safe. Lastly, be willing to get the help needed, whether they think they need it or not. Remember to love them, and remember that there is always still hope for them. No one is ever too far gone.

What Do Students Spend Their Money On? By Cassidy Grider

Some of our high school students have jobs and can bring in a little bit of money during their high school career. But what do these students spend their income on? I talked to a couple of my classmates to answer this very question. Terran Joseph said that when he's home, he makes money by helping his dad with construction. When I asked him what he spends money on, he said it kind of depends on what interests him at the time, whether it be food, shoes, etc. Sarah Dahl makes her money working at the Faith Lutheran Nursing Home in Wolf Point. She works roughly three to four times a week during the summers. She uses her paycheck to buy clothes, snacks, and a bottle of ranch. When she's feeling responsible, she also pays off her car bills. Grace Brown works on her family farm during the summer. She chooses to save her income. Alexa Reddig works for her dad, whether that's odd jobs during the year, or grain cart during the summer and fall. She spends her money on clothes, books, and coffee. As you can see, there are many things that people spend their money on.

The Coolest Car in the Parking Lot By Gabe Sapp

Everyone wants a car that will turn heads where they go. For some of us here at the high school, this is a reality. There are not many options of cars but there's definitely a top 3 at number 3, it goes to Gabriel Sapp. He has a unique vehicle, the vehicle is a 2008 Hummer H2. At number 2 it was a tough decision but we took a vote and the 2nd spot goes to Abby Olfert with a truck a little bit too big for her, her truck is a 1984 F150. Now for the most anticipated spot, at first place..... Mr Marasco's Bike, with excellent gas mileage. All have their preference of transport let it be 2 wheels or 4 wheels, and all cars have a spot in the parking lot.
